

Henry Walsh - Biografi

Henry was born 1978 in Norwich, England and spent his childhood in the Suffolk countryside. Henry studied art at Ipswich College in Suffolk, and then Loughborough University in Leicestershire. In 2000 he moved to London to find work that would further his art career and help to maintain his painting.

From 2001 until 2011 Henry worked for the Curwen Gallery (London W1) helping to run a business art consultancy and contemporary art gallery. In 2004 he was made the Associate Director, involving him in all areas of the business, including the organisation and curation of exhibitions (specifically the annual Northern Graduates show), art handling and the look and design of the company's promotional material and website. He was also involved in setting up The Rectory Gallery in Spitalfields, East London in 2009.

In Spring 2011 Henry and his family moved from London to the High Peak in Derbyshire. Henry is now a freelance artist & designer concentrating more time to his painting (while also looking after his two kids). He continues to work with Curwen selecting and organising the annual 'Northern Graduates' exhibition, as well as exhibiting his own paintings in regular group and solo exhibitions.

Artwork by Henry Walsh is regularly exhibited and collected in London (Curwen Gallery), New York, Milan & Tokyo (Kathryn Bell - Fine Art Consultancy), Scandinavia (Bohus Konst), Northwest England (Jack Sevens) and Southwest England (Wychwood Art)
